Khadi and us

Hiya, we work with a number of weavers to get cloth we use for clothing and quilt production....so can access many weights.

I think we might be khadi junkies as we are always on the lookout for new weights and weaves...it is subtle but there is great difference between regions.

We have made direct contact with each weaver we buy from, we advance a deposit against our order to allow them to buy the cotton to spin and weave without borrowing from a loan shark and we pay promptly upon receiving and checking our order.

The cloth we sell on we total all costs involved in receiving it and/or dyeing it etc and add 20% for us before we on sell at wholesale quantities and rates.

If you are interested in this email us at hello@the-stitching-project.com

If you would like a sample swatch pack email us, cost is US$10. We can arrange payment via PayPal.

It contains a range of weights and textures of khadi we have regular access to.

Any of the khadi we have access to we can have dyed with natural indigo, pomegranate yellow, myrobim red, kashish grey or printed with iron black techniques.
